THE NEW YORK SUN.

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 21, 1866.

Opening of the Political Campaign. Tax first gun has been fired in the political campaign by which the Fall elections are to be electded. On Saturday evening a large meeting of the President's supporters was held in Palladel-phia, which was addressed by Senators Document and Cowan, who are known as the chief exponents of the President's views. The importance of this meeting is derived from the fact that it may be regarded as an indication of the position which the Administration will occupy in respect to the coming election. The positions which the aforesaid Senators occupy, as confidential friends of the President, clothe their remarks, on that eccasion, with a high degree of interest. Viswing the subject in this light, it is well to examine the chief points contained in their speeches. Senator POOLITTLE said that "instead of the President proving false, the men who were now leading the objects and intentions-the restoration of the Union and enforcement of the laws," He also secused the majority party in Congress, by impilestion, of being themselves disunionists, for the reason that they oppose the policy of early restoration. The chief aim of Mr. DooLITTLE in this speech was to prove that the President does now, and will continue to follow, the principles enunciated by the Baltimore Convention. From this fact we get the inference that the Democrats have not yet got possession of the President. It would seem that he is disposed to cling to the platform upon which he was nominated, but that he thinks that the majority of his party have been washed everboard by the Radical waves. This position is the same that the President has held in his late political speeches, but there may be a question as to how long he can hold it. As the case now stands he occupies an isolated position. He is not with the Democrats nor yet with the Republicans, if we except a small faction who stand by him for the sake of particl pating in the spoils of office. There are now but two political roads to travel, and the President must necessarily take one of them. It requires but little discernment to see that the road into which he is drifting is not that which Congress has taken. A noteworthy feature of Sanstor Cowan's speech, and one which has considerable political significancy, was the announcement that the President's policy had the endorsement of Secretaries SHWAED, STANTON, WELLES, and Generals GRANT, MEADS, and other leading civil and military officers. There has hitherto been much doubt with regard to General GRANT's position, and as he has been frequently spoken of in connection with the Presidency, the statement of enator Cowan is of considerable consequence. There were several suggestive points made in the speeches at the Philadelphia meeting, but the substance of them may be stated by saying that they indicate a determination, on the part of the President, to use the whole influence and power of the Administration to crush the Radical party, at the Fall elections.

Gov. Fenton's Pardon Mauia

GOVERNOR FENTON'S tender solicitude for the health and comfort of State Prison convicts has lately led him to embark in the pardon business. Since his inauguration he has released several hardened criminals from confinement, and it is stated that he is about ready to pardon several others. The chief incentive to this kind of action by the Governor seems to be that the convicts dis fike the pork and beans diet with which they are provided by the State. The bill of fare at Sing Hing being destitute of porter house steaks and Heidsick, the gentlemen who go there to board and that their superfluous flesh rapidly disappears. This circumstance appears to have caused the Governor much anxiety, and his kindly nature has so sordingly impelled him to enter upon the arduou labor of pardoning the gentlemen with the delieate palates, for such trifling peccadilloes as murder, forgery, swindling, etc. This determination of the Governor shows that he overflows with sharity and "the milk of human kindness;" but we fear that his humanitarian zeal will lead him to sacrifice his own health for the good of his fellow men-who are residents of Sing Sing. In short, there is great danger that the onerous labor which the Governor has taken upon himself, in she pardon business, will prove too much for his powers of sudurance. He is an ablebodied man, it is true, but this late addition to his work will be likely to prove too much for him. Now it is not right that the State should allow so zealous a public serwant to sacrifice thimself in this way. Governor warow is willing to give his valual the public during another gubernatorial term. and, therefore, if we look at the matter in a purely selfah light, it is desira le that he should not now break himself down, and thus be lost to the pub he. We have given this subject much thoughtful consideration, and have come to the conclusion that the best plan for avoiding the danger we have indicated would be to establish a Pardon Bureau at Albany. It will be remembered that a plan of shis kind was formed in order to relieve the President of the physical wear and tear that befel him as the result of going into the rebel pardon business. A Pardon Bureau might be es ablished at Albany, and a few stout, able-bodied men might do all the work of pardoning criminals, except attaching the official signature. That would be a great saving to the Governor's physical energies. as would of course be necessary, at first, to have a number of subordinates, to run the Bureau, because it would take some time to put all the present criminals through; but after that one or two assistants would be able to keep up with the sourts, and perhaps save expense by preparing the pardons in advance of sentences. We simply offer this proposition as a suggestion. It is evimakes an open lamp with the Rozgara-Swarzay party, and seems inclined to go on with the bus upon his own account. This failure o Exercises to accomplish anything in the way reconciliation, coupled with his apparent disposition to follow the O'MARORY line of polloy, by giving entire attention to the collection of money, has doubtless damaged his prospects in gaining the confidence of the erganization. Since the appearance of his speech at Jones's Wood, which was simply a lengthy importunity for money, the Fenians have been disposed ask each other what they have gained by exchanging O'Manony for Sterness. They had expected that the laster would take hold of the matould, first of all, mend the unfortunate rupture which exists in the ranks. But they can get him to say nothing but money. Meantime, Prosident business, entirely ignoring Strrauss, and denying his authority. This indicates that there is no hope Republican party were preventing its grand found only in union, there is cause to apprehend that the arrival of Stephens will prove an injury rather than a benefit to the organization.

The Sunday Law

Tors enforcement of the Sunday feature of the liquor law is already exerting a salutary influence upon the moral condition of the city. All good citizens are thankful for this improvement, and the Board of Excise may feel assured that they have the support of the public in their efforts to carry out the reform. It will be necessary for the Board however, to keep on the alert in order to prevent evasions of the law. Since the liquor dealers have abandoned the idea of contesting the constitutionality of the law, they have set their wits to work with the object of devising some means by which they continue their traffic without coming into conflict with the strict letter of the law. Several evasive schemes have been tried, some of which would be commendable for their ingenuity if used in a more reputable cause, and it is understood that a considerable business has been done in the houor trade, through the medium of these adrois plans. There is another matter to which we wish to direct the attension of the Board. That is, their disposition to license what, for the sake of distinction, may be called the better class of concert salcons. One of the most extensively patronized concerns of this kind on Broadway, which employs not less than two "presty waiter girls," now displays the framed "heense" of the Excise Board. It may be that this is an exceptional case, but there ought to be no exception in favor of any such place. The law is very explicit in declaring that licenses shall not be granted except to places of "good moral character." Perhaps the Board may be able to explain this matter satisfactorily, but it looks as if sey were entirely too liberal in the distribution of their licenses.

Wemen's Clubs in London.

Lornon correspondent of the Manchester

Geardian writes:

We have, as you know, been getting tolerably fast in our manners at the West End. The present season has witnessed a furner development of feminine independence. "Ladies" clube" are this year the "go" in the most fashionable circles. The young and unmarried ladies do not take part in them to any great extent; the "frisky matrons" there reign supreme. Although these assemblies, which are held, as a general rule, in the afternoon, at the houses of the members, are called "ladies clubs," gentlemen are not excluded. A ticket to the "Sufflers," or to the "Johy Dogs"...hese are the names of two of the most fashionable—is re koned a great iavor, and can only be obtained by those who are in high favor with presiding authorities, amongst whom more than one duchess occupies a prominent position. The amusements consist of conversation and smoking...the ladies doing their part manfully with their cigarettes. To give you some idea of the freedom of manners which these remnions are instincted to promote, I may say that the "Sufflers" are so called because at their gatherings chairs and tables are banished from the room, and the members sit or lounge on the floor or on low divans.

Mr. Robert Tyler, of Virginia, has replied to the recent letter of Commodore Maury, in the London HERALD, estimating the losses of the South, in the HERALD, estimating the losses of the South, in the late war, at a total of seven billions of dollars, Mr. Tyler entirely dissents from this statement, and says the item of three billions loss in emancipated slaves is excessively high—at least fifty per cent, above accual damages. The item of expenses of the war, independent of private obligations, or, in other words, an estimate of the Confederate debt at two billions of dollars, is declared equally high. The destruction of private property exceeds, by twenty-five per cent, home estimates; and as to the item of ten millions—or fifty millions of dollars for five years—as additional taxation for the to the item of ten millions—or fifty utilions of del-lers for five years—as additional taxation for the payment of the Federal war debt, this sum being calculated as the result, at six per cont. interest on one billion of dellars, Mr. Twier claims the loss is not to be regarded as such, since it is to be par-tially expended upon the Southern States in the administration of the Government; and he then figures up, according to his own premises, the total loss of the South at $3,000,000,000.

Debt and Pepulation in Europe.

According to Mr. Gladatone, Prussia owes 215 millions of dollars ; Holland, 425 millions ; Russis, 1,385 millions; Austris, 1,580 millions; France, 2,000 millions; Italy, 750 millions; Portugal, 165 millions; and Turker, 255 millions. According to the latest census reports, Prussia has 1816 millions of people; Halland, 336 millions; Russia, 55% millions; Austra, 85 millions; Prance, 37% millions; Italy, 21% millions; Portugal, 31 millions; and Turkey, 236 millions; That is to say, the Prussians owe nearly 512 per nead, the Molecular Control of the Prussians owe nearly 512 per nead, the Molecular Control of the Prussians owe nearly 512 per nead, the Molecular Control of the Prussians owe nearly 512 per nead, the Molecular Control of the Prussians owe nearly 512 per nead, the Molecular Control of the Prussians owe nearly 512 per nead, the Molecular Control of the Prussians of of the Pr mailons; Italy, 21% millions; Portugal, 3: millions; and Turkey, 2% millions. That is 6 say, the Prussians owe nearly $12 per nead, the Hollanders gill per head, the Russians over $23, inc liaitans about $54, the Portugues nearly $40, and the Turks $15 per head of the entire jopulation. The English owe $125 per head, and me United States over about $100.

The Great Mormon "Tabernacle." The Salt Lake (Utah) TELEGRAPH has a detailed account of the Mormons' religious edifice now going up in that city.

The building is in the form of an ellipse, with an extreme length of 250 feet and width of 150. Extreme height of roof 78 feet; height of ceiling she pardons in advances of sentences. We simply effort this proposition as a suggestion. It is sevident that something of the kind should be done if we expect to retein the invaluable services of Gov. France for mother term.
